

I strongly object to any rule allowing further concentration of media ownership. The free flow of information is at the base of what makes democracy work. Media concentration is inherently anti-democratic. This is a common sense, intuitive, obvious fact: power in the hands of the few is just plain bad.